1 Introduction

This document has been developed to address specific event and venue risk requirements in conjunction with the WAKF Risk Management Policy.

This plan is designed to minimise the risks to the participants, staff, volunteers and public taking part in, or in the area of, the event and maximise enjoyment and wellbeing.

2 Risk Management Policy

This Risk Management plan has been developed consistent with the Risk Management Policy.

3 Risk Management process

3.1 What is a risk?

A risk is something that may go wrong. More specifically, it is the effect of uncertainty on an organisation's objectives. In this regard, risk includes both (a) potential threats to achieving those objectives (negative risk), and (b) potential opportunities for achieving those objectives (positive risk).

Threats and opportunities come and go, or evolve, as an organisation's internal dynamics change, as its relationships with stakeholders change, and as the external environment in which it operates changes. Keeping abreast of the risks that may affect your organisation must therefore be an ongoing activity.

3.2 What is risk management?

Risk management aims firstly to anticipate risks. Then, in the case of negative risks, it aims to prevent them from eventuating or to minimize their impact if they do. In the case of positive risks, it aims to capitalise on opportunities that present themselves. This document is mainly concerned with managing negative risks.

Because responding to risk is intended to help the organisation achieve its objectives, risk management must be integral to planning, decision-making, and resource allocation.

Managing risk is an integral part of good management practice. There is a direct relationship between risk and opportunity in all organisation's activities, and as such, an organisation needs to be able to identify, measure and manage its risks in order to capitalise on those opportunities and achieve its goals and objectives.

Risk management is simply the practice of systematically identifying and understanding risks and the processes in place to manage them. Ultimately, the process gets you to a point of deciding whether, in the context of a particular activity, a risk is acceptable or requires further action. It allows an organisation to be proactive rather than reactive and create a safer environment and 'legally safer' operational procedures.

4 Risk management process

Risk Management can be considered as part of three key steps:

Step 1 – Establish the context

Step 2 – Assess the risks

Step 3 – Treat the risks

4.1 Step 1 – Set the context

The purpose of this step is to determine the scope for all risk management activities. This includes review of the internal and external environment and influences in which risks may occur.

For the WAKF, this event risk management plan is designed to identify, evaluate the likelihood, plan and deal with potential risks in conducting a WAKF event. The main areas of risk include that of risk to athletes, staff, volunteers, spectators, and the general public.

Karate competition is a sport, and for that reason some of the most dangerous techniques are banned and all techniques must be controlled. Trained adult Competitors can absorb relatively powerful blows on muscled areas such as the abdomen, but the fact remains that the head, face, neck, groin and joints are particularly susceptible to injury. Therefore, any technique, which results in injury, may be penalised unless caused by the recipient. The Competitors must perform all techniques with control and good form. If they cannot, then regardless of the technique misused, a warning or penalty must be imposed. Particular care must be exercised in Cadet and Junior competition.

Events follow the World Karate Federation (WKF) Competition Rules which includes

- (i) protective equipment and competition area;
- (ii) the ability for a referee to intervene in a competition to stop the competitors;
- (iii) the ability for a referee to issue warnings and penalties (for those that do not have proper regard for safety); and
- (iv) the presence of professional medical personnel.

As with all sports, there are risks beyond the competition that also need to be considered , relating to the venue and interaction with spectators.

4.2 Step 2 – Risk assessment

Having established the context, the process of assessing the potential risks comprise:

- Risk identification

- Risk analysis
- Risk evaluation

Risk identification

An assessment of possible and probable risks and the response in the event an incident occurs is provided in the table Event Risk Management Procedures in Appendix A.

Analyse the risk

Having identified the potential risks, the likelihood of its occurring, the consequences should it occur, and any other attributes of the risk that may be informative have also been included in Appendix A.

Each potential risk receives a rating according the probability of occurrence, severity of damages both physical and financially to the WAKF and organising party.

The risks will be grouped into three categories:

- High Risk - Risks likely to contain a high probability of occurrence and substantial financial, safety or reputational impact on the WAKF and organising party.
- Moderate Risk - Likelihood of occurrence is probable. Special attention from management may be necessary to alleviate risk.
- Low Risk - Minimal likelihood of occurrence and minimal impact on the WAKF and organising party.

Evaluate the risk

The purpose of this step is to list the risks in order of priority for action. The list will show which risks need treatment and which don't; and of those requiring treatment, which are the most urgent

4.3 Step 3 – Risk treatment

The purpose of this step is to identify and implement the most appropriate means to mitigate risks deemed to be at an unacceptable level. These risk treatments, in effect, will become new risk management controls or will augment existing controls.

There are four stages:

- Identify risk treatment options
- Select the most suitable risk treatment option(s)
- Develop risk treatment plans
- Implement and review risk treatments

In developing the risk treatments, consideration should be given to:

- Avoidance - Management will choose not to conduct activities with the potential of associated risks.
- Control - The organising committee will develop policies and procedures to minimise risk.

- Finance - Self-funding to provide compensation to personnel involved in the event of a potential risk occurring.
- Transfer - Purchase insurance policies in order to transfer the risk of a particular risk occurring.

5 Incident management

5.1 Appointment of Risk Management Personnel

The following individuals are nominated and endorsed as members of the Crisis Management Team (CMT) for WAKF events

- WAKF Board Chairperson (or delegated Board member)
- WAKF Executive officer
- WAKF Tournament Director
- WAKF Administration Manager
- Technical Delegate (Competition) – as required
- Technical Delegate (Referee) – as required
- Competition Venue Representative – as required, from Council / Facility of hire

Representatives from any external agencies required to provide advice or manage risk occurrences will be included in the Crisis Management Team as the need arises.

Emergency Services (police, fire, ambulance, rescue) and subsidiary services (sexual assault, counselling) to be contacted through usual emergency channels by dialling 000.

5.2 Communication of Risk Incidents and Management Plans

A consolidated and informed report to affected parties of the risk and its management will minimise potential panic in the face of an incident occurring. The preparation of written statements and the delivery of these by an appointed representative will ensure consistent messages are conveyed and received when required.

The use of the Telephone Tree is important to ensure a consistent message reaches the appropriate people within a reasonable time. Dissemination of information to the appropriately affected parties is recommended by following the Telephone Tree.

WKF Responsible Staff/ Teams/Volunteers	Nominated Referees and Scorers	Venue Management

	Volunteers	External Contractors/Service Providers on site Emergency & Government Authorities
--	-------------------	--

If required, staff debriefings will be convened to ensure awareness and understanding of issues and remedies to quell any uncertainty experienced by volunteers, event staff or others in dealing with any incidents.

5.3 Documentation of Risk Management Activities

The Risk Management Procedures are documented in Appendix A, including the activities to be undertaken in the event of an incident occurring. This is crucial to ensuring that the consequence of the incident is minimised, and that an accurate record of the incident and manner in which it was handled can be obtained for review.

This documentation will assist in the review of future risk management materials, provide a record for the governing body to assess the handling of the incident and will provide the basis of counselling for those involved in the incident/s.

A sample Incident Report Forms is provided in Appendix C and will be made available at all events.

5.4 Review of Incidents

Following an incident, a review of budgets, personnel and procedures will be undertaken to identify opportunities for improvement.

The regular review and education of those involved in the management of events will ensure a thorough awareness and application of procedures is maintained.
